

Everything for the Journey

one sheet, every link. Point your phone at any square.

Everything we have built for this walk lives in one place, and all of it is free to read, download and pass on.

Scan a square with your phone camera and it opens. Every teaching page has a Download the PDF button, so you can carry it on the bus with no signal at all.

Read It Standing On It

why any of this exists

All of it grew out of one habit: reading the passage while standing on the ground it happened on.

That is what these pages are for. Read the site before you get there, so you arrive knowing the story. Stand in it, and let the geography do the arguing, because the land is the oldest commentary on the book and it has never once been edited. Then read it again on the way home. It will not be the same text.

None of this is for sale and none of it is finished. If any of it helps you, send it on. It was never meant to stay with me.
